

Save up to 90% on your prescriptions

As prescription costs rise, smart consumers shop around for the best price. Trying to find the best price for your prescriptions can be overwhelming, especially with so many promotions for discounts and cash programs available.

While an employer benefit plan can offer significant savings on prescriptions, there can be pricing discrepancies on individual medications. It may be confusing when you compare prices between your benefit plan and discount programs.

Capital Rx Drug Discount Card Does the Comparisons for You

- With price transparency, you know you're getting a competitive price.
- Use your card to search for the best price for prescription and over-the-counter (OTC) medications.
- Get more value with no cost to use the card.
- The card may be used for drugs that are not covered by your plan including OTC drugs.
